DETAILED ACTION

This is a response to the amendment filed 6/2/2005. Applicant has elected claims 1-12 for further examination. Claims 13-18 have been withdrawn.

Applicant argues that the invention of groups I, II and III does not present an undue burden is not persuasive. As noted in the previous Office, the search for the invention of group I is not required for the invention of groups II and III. Clearly, there are more than one invention present in the application. The restriction is proper and is maintained.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3 and 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Stern et al. (USP 5,150,386).

Figure 2B of shows a pulse generator comprising a plurality of unit cells (118, 126; 120, 128; 122, 130; 124, 132), wherein an nth unit cell (122, 130) generates a pulse (C3) in response to a divided by N clock signal (divided by 4 clock 32), a signal output from (n-1)th unit cell (Q output of 128), and a signal output from (n+1)th unit cell (Q output of 132) as called for in claim 1.

Regarding claims 2 and 6-7, the output signal pulse (C1-C4) having the same pulse width as the divided by 4 clock 32.

Regarding claims 3 and 8, the phase of output pulse C2 and C4 are changed with a time difference (phase shifted).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 4-5 and 9-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. In this regard, applicant's cited prior art has been carefully considered.
